

External Scholarship Opportunities

In addition to graduate assistantships and scholarships at HPU, there are thousands of national, state and private organization resources to search, including awards for teachers, those seeking a career in STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) fields, military and their family members, minorities and women who are underrepresented in their fields, and many more.

Scholarship/Funding Databases, Directories and Search Engines

When searching for a scholarship, you should start early — application deadlines are often set several months to a year before funding is disbursed.

You can identify external scholarship opportunities through websites and search engines such as:
